

PAUL W. WINTERTON, MD, PC
ORTHOPAEDIC SURGEON

May 10, 2013

To Whom It May Concern,

I have known Harry Adelson, ND since 2002 when he first started his prolotherapy practice in Utah and at that time, I was able to directly observe him perform prolotherapy injections. Since that time and over the years, Dr Adelson has kept me abreast of the evolution of his practice to include the use of autologous tissues such as platelet rich plasma, bone marrow aspirate concentrate, and adipose-derived stromal vascular fraction in his prolotherapy injections. Over the past eleven years, we have shared patients and I have gotten back from them only positive reports of his care for them.

My experience with Dr Adelson is that he considers patient safety above all else. He has made every effort to receive the highest level of training available and takes all necessary precautions to ensure patient safety. Prolotherapy with the use of autologous tissues is a rapidly evolving field and Dr Adelson is as qualified and responsible as any doctor performing these therapies. I am of the opinion that Dr Adelson provides a valuable service to the people of Utah. I support Dr Adelson and the work that he is doing.

Sincerely,

Paul Winterton, MD

Board of Councilors, American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons